NPUAP LIVE WEBINARS ON PRESSURE ULCERS

PART 1: JUNE 22, 2011
PART 2: AUGUST 3, 2011

BOTH WEBINARS WILL BE ONE-HOUR EACH AND INCLUDE A Q&A PERIOD

In 2010 the National Pressure Ulcer Advisory Panel (NPUAP) hosted a multidisciplinary conference to establish consensus on whether there are individuals in whom pressure ulcer development may be unavoidable and whether a difference exists between end-of-life skin changes and pressure ulcers. The NPUAP is delighted to present a two-part webinar series to assist practitioners in understanding the enlightening and groundbreaking results of this conference. Plan now to join this NPUAP webinar to gain insight into this challenging problem.

LIVE WEBINAR PART 1
Wednesday, June 22, 2011 • 2:00 PM ET

Pressure ulcers are avoidable! – Or are they?!

This webinar will address the definitions of avoidable vs. unavoidable pressure ulcers. Participants will learn how to identify specific clinical conditions and physiological factors that increase risk and contribute to the development of unavoidable pressure ulcers, as well as to understand other factors that may contribute to unavoidable pressure ulcer development.

Participants will learn how to:

1. Compare and contrast the terms "avoidable" and "unavoidable"
2. Identify physiological issues and clinical conditions that may contribute to the development of unavoidable pressure ulcers
3. Identify other factors potentially contributing to pressure ulcer development (nutrition, staffing, medical devices, etc.)

Who should attend: The target audience is nurses, risk managers, case managers, dietitians, physical therapists, nurse practitioners, administrators, physician assistants, occupational therapists, researchers, government employees, and attorneys.

Presenters:

Diane Langemo, PhD, RN, FAAN
Laura Edsberg, PhD

Moderator:

Laurie McNichol, MSN, RN, GNP, CWOCN
NPUAP President

LIVE WEBINAR PART 2
Wednesday, August 3, 2011 • 2:00 PM ET

How do I stage THIS pressure ulcer?! Staging issues and root-cause analysis for pressure ulcer development

This webinar will address issues and challenges in accurate staging of pressure ulcers. The basis for and process of root-cause analysis will be discussed and exemplified through patient scenarios.

Participants will learn how to:

1. Delineate staging challenges and how to address them
2. Describe the root-cause analysis process for agency-acquired pressure ulcers
3. Discuss patient scenarios of pressure ulcer development within the root-cause analysis process

Who should attend: The target audience is nurses, risk managers, case managers, dietitians, physical therapists, nurse practitioners, administrators, physician assistants, occupational therapists, government employees, and attorneys.

Presenters:

Diane Langemo, PhD, RN, FAAN
Joyce Black, PhD, RN, CWCN, CPSN, FAAN
